

Giorgio Walter Canonica

Allergist and Pulmonologist

Giorgio Walter is Professor of Respiratory Medicine at Humanitas University, Milan-Italy
& Director *Personalized Medicine Asthma & Allergy Center at Humanitas Research Hospital-
Milano Italy

Professor Canonica got his medical degree from the University of Genoa, Italy.

- specialised in Pulmonary Diseases in Genoa
- specialised in Allergy and Clinical Immunology at Florence University, Italy.

He subsequently conducted clinical immunology and allergology research at several European & US Universities and Institutes, such as the

- Biomedicum-Uppsala University Sweden
- MUSC-Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston, USA.

Since returning to the University of Genoa in 1995, Professor Canonica has held a number of academic positions, including:

- Full Professor Internal Medicine
- Director of the Speciality School of Allergy and Clinical Immunology
- Full Professor of Pulmonary Medicine
- Director of the Specialty School of Pulmonary Diseases
- Chairman of the Department of Medical Specialties (University Hospital San Martino Genoa, Italy).

He has been working in international organizations as:

- President of WAO-World Allergy Organization
- President of Interasma-Global Asthma Association
- President of SIAAIC- Italian Society Allergy, Asthma & Clinical Immunology

- President of SIMER-Italian Society Respiratory Medicine

Currently:

- Board Member of ARIA-Allergic Rhinitis and its Impact on Asthma
- Board Member of CIA- Collegium Internationale Allergologicum
- VicePresident of REG-Respiratory Effectiveness Group
- Chair of the EAACI Methodology Committee.
- Advocate if international GINA-Global Asthma Initiative
- Steering Committee Member of SANI-Severe Asthma Network Italy registry.
- GWC is Fellow of : ERS-ACAAI-AAAAI-EAACI

H index 107; Citations >59.500 ; Peer-Reviewed Papers >750

<https://orcid.org/0000-0001-8467-2557>